LOOKING TO FUTURE

STREET IMPROVEMENTS WHICH WILL BE NEEDED TO MAKE READY FOR DEVELOPMENT

The office of the City Engineer is at work on the assessment list for the opening of the Sycamore Canyon Road. This is to be the biggest improvement of the kind that has taken place in Glendale, and hope is entertained that it will be an actuality by next winter.

The initial proceedings for the opening and widening of three thoroughfares, viz. Orange Grove avenue from Adams street east to Verdugo Road, of Seventh street east from Everett street to Adams street, and the opening and widening of Broadway eastward from Glendale avenue to the eastern city limits, have been completed and it only remains for the property owners to inaugurate the work of improving them by a petition to have the city proceed with the improvement.

The opening of Eighth street east from Adams street to the Verdugo Road, is also nearing completion and this street will no doubt be improved by the property owners in the near future, as it will be made necessary by the fact that the trustees of the Glendale School District have three acres of land along the line of this improvement which will not be accessible until this improvement is made.

All of the streets named are in the eastern section of the city where there is considerable acreage that would be made available for subdivision by these improvements. The work has been delayed by unusual financial conditions. The completion of the Sycamore Canyon Road and the improvement of East Broadway should be accomplished by next winter. The problem of storm water is closely connected with the opening of Sycamore Canyon Road and that is one reason why the trustees are urging this improvement. When that is completed the Pacific Electric has promised to establish a loop along that right of way. This will open up all that eastern territory which should be made ready for the development that may reasonably be expected to follow the advent of the electric line.

CANNOT USE CANCELLED STAMPS

George D. Carter, who is now in Kern county on business, sends to Mrs. Carter a clipping from a Kern county paper in regard to collecting postage stamps for the Red Cross.

A discouraging blow to the hopes of the children of the city schools who have been assiduously collecting cancelled postage stamps under the impression that they could be sold by the Red Cross for the purpose of extracting the dye, has been received in a letter from Red Cross national headquarters at Washington, D. C.

Acting Chairman Joseph R. Hamlin is the writer and says:

"I beg to state that the American Red Cross has no way of using for its benefit cancelled postage stamps.

"For some reason or other, the information has gone broadcast that we could use these stamps but it did not originate at national headquarters and is erroneous.

"Will you please give this letter as much publicity as possible?"

The letter is addressed to John H. B. Speer, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Delano, and is a reply to inquiries Mr. Speer made of national headquarters January 28. The reply from Washington was forwarded by Mr. Speer to the Kern County Council of Defense and pupils and teachers are accordingly being notified.

PATRIOTIC SOCIAL

There was an astonishingly good attendance at the Patriotic Social given Tuesday evening by the Ladies' Aid of the Tropico Methodist Church in the Social Hall of the church, in spite of the fact that it was a rainy night.

Comrade C. H. Clark was the speaker of the evening, his theme being "Patriotism" and what it means.

Doctor Joseph Marple sang several numbers including "Mother Macree" and "Tipperary." He stated in connection with the song last named that when he sang it four years ago in London it made a great hit and he was recalled several times. For his last encore on that occasion he substituted "It's a long way from California," which called forth great applause. Red, white and blue decorations featured the patriotic celebration.

WEATHER FORECAST— Rain tonight and Thursday. Southerly winds.

ON THE WAY TO THE FRONT

Joe Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson of 327½ South Louise street, who until recently was at Camp Lewis in the Mounted Police service was chosen as one of the three taken from his company to be sent to a New Jersey camp enroute for France. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have received several letters from him since his arrival there in which he reports that he was granted a twenty-four-hour leave in which he visited Philadelphia, where he lived before coming to California. He was a guest in the home of his uncle, J. D. Munro, where he held a regular reception for about two hours, during which old friends called to see him. Among the callers were friends who had recently entertained Rev. W. E. Edmonds and Mr. W. J. Clendenin of Glendale. Later in the day Joe went to the church he used to attend in Philadelphia, and met old school mates and his pastor. He found there only one boy of his age; all the rest of the boys were in camps.

Joe also writes that he is well, happy, and well clothed. He wished to be remembered to all of his friends in Glendale, especially members of the Christian Endeavor of the Glendale Presbyterian Church. As soon as he is settled he will send his address so his friends can write him.

SOLDIER BOY MADE HAPPY

While Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Van Alstine of Riverdale Drive, with their sister, Mrs. Tomlinson of Santa Rosa, and Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Dunlap of St. Andrews Place, Los Angeles, were on their way to Brookside Park, Pasadena, with well filled baskets in the Van Alstine car they saw a lonely looking soldier standing near the entrance to the Busch gardens. The soldier quickly accepted an invitation to participate in the picnic and introduced himself as Private Robert K. Patterson, of Eugene, Oregon, and on duty in the hospital department at Fort McArthur. This was his first day off since entering the service.

Private Patterson is anxious to get at the Germans and the members of the picnic party all agreed that if he fights as he eats he will be a credit to the cause for the way he stowed away that dinner brought joy to the ladies who prepared it.

THIRD LIBERTY LOAN POSTPONED

VARIETY OF UNFORESEEN DEVELOPMENTS REDUCES SPENDING POWER OF SMALL CONSUMER TO MINIMUM

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, February 20.—Subnormal economic and business conditions brought about by a variety of unforeseen war developments has caused the postponement of the third liberty loan until April 1. The loan was originally set for February 15. The bonds will likely bear 4½ per cent interest when floated. A general money stringency due to the transportation tie-up, suspension of industries causing labor to suffer in wages lost, bad weather keeping people at home, extensive profiteering inflating the cost of living, all have reduced to the lowest ebb the spending power of the small consumer and contribute to the postponement of the loan.

WILL CURTAIL PASSENGER TRAFFIC

ORDER FOR INCREASE IN RATES AND ELIMINATION OF COMPETING TRAINS EXPECTED SOON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, February 20.—Curtailment of passenger traffic by a sharp increase in passenger rates and eliminating competing night trains between the middle west and eastern commercial centers is expected to be ordered soon by the Railroad administration. Interchangeable tickets are to be introduced likewise.

FEED WHEAT TO HOGS

SACRAMENTO COUNTY FARMERS SELL BARLEY FOR BIG PRICE AND FEED WHEAT TO STOCK

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SACRAMENTO, February 20.—The farmers of Sacramento county are feeding their hogs wheat instead of barley, due to the market demand for barley as a substitute in conserving wheat. Barley sells at 10 cents more a hundred than wheat.

GRANTING WILSON BLANKET POWERS

SENATOR UNDERWOOD WARNS AGAINST GOVERNMENT OF MEN INSTEAD OF GOVERNMENT OF LAWS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, February 20.—The long expected storm over granting the president further general blanket war powers broke in the Senate this afternoon. Senator Underwood, democrat, speaking on the railroad bill, said: "While we are sending soldiers abroad to fight to make the world safe for democracy we must not lose the fight to keep America democratic. No democracy will ever be safe in the hands of a man and a country governed by men and not by laws. Our country possesses checks to keep us from autocracy, provided Congress upholds the sovereign rights of the people. But when Congress reaches that point when it is prepared to surrender a government of laws for a government of men then there is danger ahead for the people of the United States." Underwood declared that Congress should not confer general powers on the president to make rules for the conduct of the railroads under government control, but should define and specify and limit his power.

RUSSIAN DEMOBILIZATION STOPS

TROOPS ARE ORDERED TO RESIST GERMAN ADVANCE, DESTROYING PROPERTY WHEN FORCED TO FALL BACK

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PETROGRAD, February 20.—The demobilization of the Russian army and fleet has been stopped. Russian troops have been ordered to resist the German advance and to evacuate positions only when necessary, destroying property as they fall back. Preparations are being made for the defense of Petrograd.

A STRONG APPEAL

EXEMPTION BOARD WANTS INFORMATION WHICH WILL ENABLE IT TO CLAIM CREDITS

Another man has been into the army by the local Exemption Board by special induction process. The man is Mr. Joly of Calabasas. He was sent to Fort MacArthur today for immediate service in France. He speaks French fluently and desires to get to the front.

Chairman Lanterman is very anxious that the public should be made to understand that if any one has information regarding any man who is in service who has not received a classification card because of being in service, or classification under the fifth class, that person will be conferring a big favor upon the man and upon the members of the Board by turning in the information. The reason for the request is that the Board wants to receive and is entitled to full credit for every enlisted man within its jurisdiction and unless it receives the information which will enable it to claim the credit, it will have to send some one to take the place of that man on the records of the Board, for its quota must be filled, and its quota should be credited with all enlisted men.

Dr. Henry R. Harrower in company with Doctors Flint and Smith, was busy yesterday and today examing the last of the registrants. There will be straggling cases however, which will call for the attention of physicians from time to time. Twenty men were inspected by the doctors today.

AUTO MIX-UPS

Sunday was quite an eventful day in the matter of auto accidents, though fortunately none were of a very serious character. At eight o'clock in the evening on that day Mr. Ritter of La Canada and Mr. Richardson of this city had a mix-up at Third and Brand. No one was hurt but both machines were more or less disfigured. Mr. Ritter's car is a Saxon, Mr. Richardson's is a Dodge.

Kenneth Belden of 232 South Jackson street and E. Robbins of 531 Labree Court had a collision on Broadway, February 16th. Both were driving Fords and Mr. Belden admitted that Mr. Robbins had the right of way. Both machines were dented a little but not badly damaged.

CANDIDATES COLUMN

A candidates' announcement column has been provided for on page 3, and to this column the readers of the Evening News will refer when they wish to learn who the people's candidates really are. Your attention is called to announcements already made, and your attention is invited to announcements that may be made from day to day. The Evening News has a large circulation in all parts of Glendale and there is no more speedy and thorough way for a candidate to get his name before the public than through these columns.

BOYS IN RUNNING EXERCISE

A very beneficial exercise for the boys of the Third Street school was put in practice Wednesday forenoon when their physical training instructor Albert T. Blanford appeared on Kenwood street and Broadway with thirty boys ranging in age from 12 to 15 years, drilling them in a running exercise. The boys were attentive to their instructor and they presented a fine appearance. The only criticism that might be offered is that the majority of them seemed to be breathing through the mouth instead of the nose.

TUESDAY'S RAINFALL

The rainfall in Glendale is gradually creeping up. Tuesday and Tuesday night, according to the rain gauge of H. E. Bartlett, .56 of an inch fell. This added to the total for the season made a total up to Wednesday morning of 3.08 inches. At this writing the sky is overcast and a light rain is falling which gives promise of a heavier precipitation to come.

THE MAC BAIN AUTOMOBILE

The Oakland touring car belonging to H. G. MacBain, which was stolen from in front of the Palace Grand theatre last Friday evening, and which was located in Bakersfield the following day, has not been returned to Glendale yet, it being still in the hands of the insurance company.

GROCERIES WILL CLOSE

So far as we have been able to learn all Glendale grocery stores will close Friday, Washington's birthday. Housewives should take notice and secure all needed supplies on Thursday.

RENUMBERING SYSTEMS

TRUSTEES TO TAKE UP THIS STREET PROBLEM IN NEAR FUTURE TO DECIDE ON PLAN

The City Trustees have been giving some attention to the renumbering of streets which has become quite necessary since the annexation of the Tropico district. Two plans have been suggested in the various articles which have been published on the subject. One was to begin at the west boundary of the city and number east and at the south boundary and number north, thus avoiding any duplication of numbers. The other plan, which is the one usually adopted, was to begin at a central point and from that point number east and west and north and south.

The central point suggested was Broadway and Brand, making Brand the dividing line between the east and west numbers, and Broadway the dividing line between the north and south divisions of the city.

One argument against the first plan is that it involves a fixed boundary line, and a city expanding as Glendale is should not cramp itself by having fixed boundary lines. Also, it would run the numbers up very high, and the outsider would get the impression that numbers, because they were high, were a great distance from the center of the city.

City Manager Watson states that the expressions he has received have been almost unanimously in favor of numbering from a central point. In any event it may be advisable to change the names of First, Second, Third, etc., as their present names would have no logical significance under either plan.

Growing out of the consolidation of the two cities a great many problems have presented themselves for consideration and it has taken time to solve them. Renumbering of streets is a very important question and it has been delayed somewhat for the purpose of getting public expression as to the system desired. It no doubt will be taken up immediately by the trustees and some plan will be worked out which will be for the best interest of the municipality.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

The Literary Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club had a patriotic program Tuesday afternoon, enjoyed alike by members and guests.

Poems of deep pathos and interest were read by Mrs. Lynch and Mrs. Duffield.

Mrs. Hagood delighted her audience with national airs, rendered in an exceptionally pleasing way.

Mrs. Hunt read a letter from her brother in France, vividly describing his sensations in an airplane.

Miss Hickman and Mrs. Edgar W. Pack read papers on patriotic women and patriotic men. Both of these subjects teemed with national history and were thoroughly interesting and instructive.

Home made cakes and tea were served by the section, Mrs. Butterfield and Mrs. Goldwaithe presiding over the tea tables, and after a social hour was enjoyed, each and all voted the afternoon a most delightfully enjoyable affair.

RED CROSS ACTIVITY

The bad weather of the past week has not discouraged attendance on the surgical dressings classes at the headquarters of the Glendale Red Cross Chapter. Perhaps the promised prosperity which rain will bring to Southern California will give fresh courage to the workers.

Monday Mrs. Lawshe was the instructor and she was assisted by: Mesdames Eva Bolen, M. G. Musser, Lee Kaster, W. R. Cleveland, C. Farnham, W. J. Masek, C. E. Hutton, A. D. Switzer, Claud E. Case, Chas. N. Erling, D. B. Pingree, O. T. Walker, M. Shugart, L. B. Munn, A. M. Parker, Geo. T. Paine, Miss Mary Chester, Miss Maud Cunningham.

Tuesday Ruth Taggart was the instructor and the workers under her were: Mesdames E. W. Towle, Cora Quinch, E. L. Sparr, Harry Thimm, Ed Dale, Archie Parker, R. L. Milligan, E. S. Hedges, E. C. Steele, E. P. Tresslar, O. Spencer, E. B. Vanderhof, T. B. Wagnon, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Kelly.

Arrangements are being perfected for the Thursday evening meeting of workers in the surgical dressing and other departments and the program as far as completed will include:

Lecture by Dr. Henry R. Harrower,

Songs by Miss Wetherby, Director of Music in the grade schools,

Piano numbers by Miss Helene Morgan.

Ladies can bring their husbands or other escorts with the assurance that they will be entertained.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1918

WHAT IT WOULD MEAN!

The victory of Germany would mean the crucifixion of the highest dreams of man, for with the broadening of her political border would come a narrowing—automatically—of all human hope, and the ultimate extinction of every ideal treasured in and created by the spirit of man. Such an eclipse would be the great tragedy! Matter, as matter, would be enthroned, canonized, deified and the lie given to that band of holy men, the Prophets, who said they saw God "face to face," and the benefit of the doubt withdrawn from those other holy men, the Gods of the Intellect, Plato down to Kant, who throughout the ages, spite of everything, have kept an altar-light before the Unknown. And the sweet dream of Jesus would become lost!

Freedom of thought—more precious than freedom of action—would forever fade from the fair earth. Loyalty would be in us, but no faith; religion, but our spirit dead. Worse than all this, we would become like the machine-made Germans themselves, efficient but with no perception. Witless manikins, all goose-stepping against a leaden sky. And our masters would be as cowardly aggressive to us as to the other subject races, until in our enforced docility we, too, would cry out for our brother's blood.

The domination of Roman law narrowed all Roman consciousness, so that these conquerors had to ape Greek culture and imitate or steal Greek designs. So has German military law crippled all German consciousness, manufacturing at the same time a race of mental perverts with minds so overtrained that the tail of the Fatherland wags at the professional logic of its Wilhelmstrasse bureaucrats. German reasoning is not European or American reasoning, making for confusion all 'round. Read outside of Germany, in any nation where the mental nerves are responsive to the treatment of normal logic, the diplomatic notes of Zimmerman and Jagow were unintelligible. On the other side of the Rhine, addressed to a national consciousness "made in Germany" they are taken for natural products and strange as it seems to the rest of the thinking world, even invincible in their logical processes.

This perversion of the German spirit out of which once spoke Kant and Fitche and Schelling, idealists all, is the "blot on the 'scutcheon" of the sabre-changing Kaiser. The international generalizations of these spiritual giants have been substituted by death-dealing-Krupp-formulas. The Tree of Knowledge of the Kantian circle of German dreamers blew its blossoms into the air. The race has since learned, through many strange teachers, to yearn downward. And now, in place of spiritual "systems," the German scholar's affinity for matter has made him precocious in issues of chemistry. Where once he starred the black night of European materialism, he is now quite satisfied to lead the world in the production of aniline dyes. However, you cannot, these days, go very far interpreting any German mind without insensibly making an analysis of old "mother nature." By plodding along this line you will be certain, eventually, to stumble upon some chemical discovery. You see, in Germany, mind and matter have become one and the same thing!

No, we cannot stop until we have forced this blue-eyed race back to its own boundary. And if it ever replaces the poison of its bland baby-stare by the white light of its once great soul, we may take it back into the family of those nations who are somewhat concerned with the claims of the true, the beautiful and the good, as she now values exclusively the rewards of force. But not before!—Exchange.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE AND THE W. C. T. U.

Once two small boys in an eastern city were puzzling over the letters "W. C. T. U." on a window of an office. One remarked: "I'd like to know what them there letters up there mean." "Aw," said the other, "Don't yer know what them is? It means the wimmen what goes up there will see to you!" And when one undertakes to follow the various lines of endeavor undertaken and successfully carried out by women of this great band, it indeed seems as if they were trying to see to everything.

But perhaps no other organization anywhere emphasizes and secures personal responsibility among its members as does the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. This unbroken chain of individual responsibility extending from the national head down to the woman in the smallest hamlet or town is absolutely unequalled for efficiency and power.

The far-reaching work of the organization is done through forty-two departments, which are grouped into six main lines of effort: organization, preventive, legal, social and evangelistic. Each department is under the direct charge of a national superintendent, who directs the work in general and has supervision of the state superintendents in the same line of work. These, in turn, have the leadership of the counties in their own states, and on down to the individual local union, where one woman, especially fitted for the work, takes a personal interest and responsibility there. This forms a most complete organization which gives, very quickly, a tremendous power in any given department. By means of this perfected system, literally hundreds of thousands of signatures, for instance, can be secured within a few days for the furthering of some wanted legislation.

During the forty-five years of service for the good of humanity, white ribboners have ever been patriotic and loyal to their country. The emergency war service now being put forth all over the nation by the organization is but an extended and intensive undertaking of that which was inaugurated a generation and a half ago.

Almost from the first, duly appointed superintendents in the department of Work Among Soldiers and Sailors have been visiting forts, arsenals, barracks, navy yards, military and naval schools and colleges, posts, Soldiers' Homes, hospitals and encampments, any and all places where these men were massed, distributing tracts, leaflets, magazines, comfort bags, delicacies and luxuries for the ill, pledging them against strong drink and immorality, and organizing temperance societies wherever possible.

In past years the W. C. T. U. has worked early and late to secure improved conditions for our soldiers, being among the first to ask for an appropriation by Congress, after the canteen (army saloon) had been closed, for amusement halls, libraries and better food. When the old canteen, with its demoralizing influence, was abolished from both the army and navy, the organization was a most active and potent factor in winning the victory for the protection of the men. It was also largely instrumental in the issuing of the order by the War Department that prostitution in the Philippine Islands, under the protection of the American army, should cease.

Recently when the National and State Councils of Defense sent out their list of twelve different phases of work to be done in behalf of our government, it was early discovered that the W. C. T. U. already had well established departments of work through which each different requested service could be rendered. Recognized as an organizer and leader of unusual ability, the State W. C. T. U. President, Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, was months ago made vice-president for Southern California of the State Woman's Councils of Defense, and in well-nigh every town and city the leaders and most active workers in the various lines of war service are found to be members of the W. C. T. U., for the reason that their years of training have developed capability and efficiency.

The splendid loyalty and generous service of the past nine months of the white ribboners of Southern California is "quite another story" and must be told at some future time, for it is well worth telling and more than worth hearing.

FEW LUXURIES ARE POSSIBLE

When the American soldier goes abroad he carries a little pack about two feet long and not more than eight inches in diameter. It contains everything the soldier carries. He is limited to the bare necessities; all the little luxuries—the candy, magazines, chewing gum, and so on, that a fellow spends his nickels and dimes and quarters for ordinarily—have to be left behind.

Moreover, the army can't always carry these things along; ammunition and food and fodder get the first call. What's more, the soldier can not take a homey atmosphere along with him, for barracks at best are often unhomelike, and even they have to be given up when the army takes the field or goes to France. All those mellowing influences of home and friends and accustomed facilities for pleasure, rest and recreation, are more or less foreign to the bald, unadorned life of the soldier and the sailor, too.

The American Y. M. C. A. is supplying the need of home so far as it is possible for it to do so.

"NOT AN INCH OF IDLE YARD"

The war garden is of even greater importance this year than it was last year. Gardening should be made a serious business and an early start is much to be desired. Increased production of foodstuffs in the back yard and saving of foodstuffs from the garbage can will accomplish wonders in adding to the family food supply. Vegetables are necessary and to use them freely will make it easier to keep in good health. The value of garden exercise in keeping physically fit is too well known for further comment. Make your garden early. "Not an inch of idle yard."

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Dunlop have moved from 405 North Louise street to 337 North Maryland street.

Mrs. Fannie Marple of Palmer avenue left Tuesday for Long Beach where she will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Retts. She will be absent for several days.

Robert Taylor of Palmer avenue, attended a box social of Mirror Lodge, of the Good Templars in Los Angeles, Monday evening. He reports it was a very pleasant social occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Redman of 127 North Brand boulevard, leave this week Thursday for San Francisco where Mr. Redman will be the Coast representative of a Pittsburg steel manufacturing company.

Mrs. A. T. Tomlinson who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. E. B. Van Alstine, of Riverdale Drive, and friends in Los Angeles, will return to her home in Santa Rosa this evening. Mrs. Tomlinson has lived at various coast points north of this and declares that Southern California climate is the finest of all.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser of 900 Lomita avenue, have as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Stockbridge who are members of the "Fair and Warmer" company now playing at the Mason Opera House in Los Angeles. They will be here this week and next and will then leave for the east, stopping en route at Redlands and Riverside.

Uncertainty of the weather up to Wednesday noon made uncertain the place at which the basket ball game between Hollywood and Glendale High School teams will be played this afternoon. If the weather is stormy it will have to be an indoor game. At this writing it is probable that it will take place on the court of the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A.

The all day meeting of N. P. Banks Post and Corps will be held Friday, February 22d, and will of course have a patriotic program of unusual character. The customary dinner will be served by the Corps at noon and guests who are not members of Post or Corps will be charged 25 cents. To regular members the price will remain as in the past, 15 cents.

One Glendale real estate agent has reported the renting of twenty-seven houses in one week in this city, some of them furnished, some unfurnished. He declares there is a great demand and he is anxious to increase his lists of available dwellings. Houses in the Tropico district are filling up. The apartments owned by C. C. Rittenhouse on Walnut street are now filled.

The Woman's Senior Bible Class of the Glendale Baptist Church wishes to announce a reception Thursday afternoon, February 21st, from 2:30 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. E. Reed, 139 South Brand boulevard. All the ladies of the church and congregation are invited. A special invitation is extended to new members. The object of the reception is to get better acquainted.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

A very pleasant reception though an entirely informal one, was given for Mr. and Mrs. T. F. McCrea and Mr. McCrea's mother, Monday evening by Mrs. W. L. Andrews of 1552 Pioneer Drive, as a farewell function.

Mrs. Andrews in common with many other people in Glendale has a warm regard for the various members of the McCrea family and is exceedingly sorry to lose them as residents of our city. The guest list was made up of those who have been on terms of intimate acquaintance with them, and who were glad to have this opportunity of bidding them goodbye and Godspeed.

The evening's entertainment begun with the singing of "America" by all present and closed with "The Star Spangled Banner," the intervening period being devoted to games and social chat.

In a brief unpretentious little speech Mr. McCrea voiced for himself and his family their appreciation of the friendship and hospitality they have enjoyed in Glendale and the regret they feel in leaving it, referring of course to his hostess and the happy occasions in the past at which they had been guests in her home.

Refreshments of cake and ice cream were served by Mrs. Andrews ably assisted by a committee of efficient gentlemen, viz. Messrs. Vinton, Gray, Olin, Howard and Roy Kent.

Present besides the guests of honor were: Messrs. and Mesdames Vernon H. Cowsert, Roy Kent, Gray, Galvin, Howard, Vinton, Shepard, Olin, Andree, Mrs. Charles Kent, Miss Evelyn Kent, Mrs. Doxie and Miss Doxie.

God bless the good natured, for they bless everybody else.—Henry Ward Beecher.

THE STEADY SUBSCRIBER

How dear to our heart is the steady subscriber, who pays in advance at the birth of each year, who lays down the money and does it quite gladly and casts 'round the office a halo of cheer.

He never says "Stop it! I cannot afford it, I'm getting more papers than now I can read." But always says "Send it, our people all like it—in fact we all think it a help and a need."

How welcome his check when it reaches our office, how it makes our pulse throb; how it makes our heart dance. We outwardly thank him; we inwardly bless him—the steady subscriber who pays in advance.

LATEST INFORMATION ON THE CASTOR BEAN SITUATION

There has been some agitation recently concerning the growing of castor beans in this county and neighboring counties for the production of castor oil used in high speed gasoline engines, says the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau Monthly. This office has as yet received no official information from the Government concerning the situation but through the courtesy of the Rural World, we are able to submit the following letter:

"January 22, 1918.

"The Department of Agriculture is not making contracts for growing castor beans, or supplying the seed for planting.

"The Chief Signal Officer of the Army, Washington, D. C., has contracted for a large acreage of castor beans throughout the southern states. The entire acreage alloted has been contracted for. No contract was written for less than one hundred acres, since small contracts would involve too much Government supervision.

"Small planters have been encouraged to contract with the nearest large contractor having the necessary authority to make sub-contracts. Subcontractors can obtain seed direct from the nearest large contractor whose name will be furnished upon application to the Chief Signal Officer, Equipment Division, Castor Oil Section, 119 D Street, Northeast, Washington, D. C.

"If it is desired to grow castor beans for the open market for which it is believed there will be a demand, seed for planting may be obtained at a reasonable price from the Baker Castor Oil Company, 120 Broadway, New York City, of whom the Government has purchased its seed requirement.

"W. W. STOCKBERGER, Physiologist in Charge of Drug and Poisonous Plant Investigations."

THE HYDROAIRPLANES

"O-i-l b-u-b-b-l-e-s! S-e-n-d p-l-a-n-e." The little hand mirror of the motorboat officer flashed this heliograph message across two miles of water.

On the deck of the dreadnaught came sudden action. A hydroairplane, waiting in the clutches of its catapult was manner. A click and the catch of the catapult was split. Simultaneously with the sudden roar of its motor, the airplane shot forward like a clay pigeon hurled from a shotgun gallery trap. The plane made short work of locating the U-boat. Following first the telltale trail of oil, it circled above until the dark outline of the lurker in the depths became visible. Then a smoke bomb was dropped—the signal to a destroyer—and the hydroairplane descended to the waves, merely to loaf along, with the track of small bubbles constantly coming to the surface from the diver's exhaust, until relieved by the vessel.

This now is one of our most effective means of defending our fighting fleet from the atacks of submarines. The seaplane is our chief scout, the farseeing eyes of our fighting fleet.

Because Captain Chambers' invention (the above mentioned catapult), now is thoroughly practicable, one of the navy's aeronautic experts told congress a few months ago that "our launching device is ahead of anything the other people have."

Upon its return to its mobile base, the seaplane sinks to the surface of the ocean upon the sheltered side of the mother craft and is lifted aboard.

A WARNING

Chief Herald states that a great many complaints have been made to his office of the scattering of Los Angeles newspapers about the streets by newsboys, particularly at Brand and Lomita and Brand and Broadway. The city mantains rubbish cans and incinerators at both points for the boys to use, and if the practice is not discontinued it is probable there will be some prosecutions. The city has an ordinance against that sort of thing and the police will have to take steps to enforce it if the littering of the streets continues. They hope they will not be forced to start something in that connection.

WAR ON RATS

SOUTH PASADENA IS CONSIDERING PLAN TO PLACE BOUNTY ON THEM

A new war is being advocated in South Pasadena. It is a war on rats on which it is proposed to place a bounty. Rats may have some value as scavengers in countries where there is great waste and where sanitary conditions are very bad; but in communities like those which are found in Southern California they not only have no economic value but are wasteful parasites and a serious menace to the health of the community because they are carriers of infection.

The placing of a bounty on rats is being advocated and the South Pasadena Record has this to say of the plan:

"The killing of rats would be a picnic for boys, if they were paid so much per scalp. Especially would this be an interesting and patriotic job for Boy Scouts.

"Does anyone suppose there are not thousands of destructive, disease-carying rats in South Pasadena? There are. They are a menace and a nuisance.

"We are straining every effort to conserve food. The good housewife is urged to skimp more and more so that our soldiers and our allies may have food. Yet every year the rats in the United States take a billion dollars' worth of good food out of our mouths.

"Why not kill the rats? Why not begin at once, and right here in South Pasadena?

"It is a well known fact that there are at least 200,000,000 rats in the United States. Also it is known that it requires the work of 150,000 men to produce what that vast army of rats eat in a year. Carrying down the same ratio to South Pasadena we could safely figure that this city harbors 20,000 rats and that it takes all the time of fifteen men to produce food for them. In other words the work of fifteen men is absolutely thrown away. Even if each rat destroyed only one dollar's worth of property and food a year, South Pasadena loses $20,000 a year, and that is a very conservative figure—just one-fifth of the government estimate.

"Now, if fifteen men were producing $20,000 worth of food a year and it were allowed to go to waste there would be an outcry that would sound to Heaven and the authorities would step in and put a stop to such wanton destruction.

"Then why not put a stop to it? For that is just what is going on right here in our midst. Why not kill these pestiferous food destroyers? Why not put a bounty on their heads?

"Do the above figures seem high? They are based on proven facts. But let us agree that South Pasadena is such a nice, clean town that there are fewer rats here than in most cities. Let us be extremely liberal and cut the above figures in quarters and taken only one-fourth the estimate. We will still be harboring 5,000 rats that will destroy at least $5,000 worth of food, to say nothing of other property damage. We would still have the food production of four hard working men going to waste.

"Besides all this the rat is a disease-carrying rodent that costs more in sickness and loss of life than we would be willing to admit.

"Government literature now being distributed shows that rats not only eat up food of all kinds, but spread horrible diseases and cause fires and interruption of communication by gnawing the insulation of electric wires.

"The newly circulated government posters speak of the rat as a spreader of fatal diseases.' It is the sole carrier of the most destructive of all human maladies—the 'bubonic plague.'

"This disease, which on two recent occasions has invaded the United States, was for centuries the terror of the old world, epidemics of it carrying off whole populations. One such epidemic, in the fourteenth century, killed half the people in England. In 1907 more than 2,000,000 men, women and children in India succumbed to the complaint.

"It is now known that bubonic plague—the 'black death' of the middle ages—is originally a disease of rats. Fleas, deriving the infection from the rats, communicate it to human beings by their bites. Diseased rats make their way from house to house and travel in ships from seaport to seaport, thus spreading the malady.

"Another dreadful disease attributable to rats is trichiniasis. It originates in rats, among which it is very common. Pigs (whose quarters are commonly invaded by rats looking for food) eat the diseased rodents now and then, and thus become infected. People eat the infected pork, and, unless it is thoroughly cooked (so as to kill the minute worms called 'trichinae'), are liable to die in frightful agony, their flesh being invaded by worms multiplying in countless numbers.

"Evidently trichiniasis is a very ancient malady, for it was on this account that Moses declared pork to be unclean, forbidding the Israelites to eat it. As a matter of today at least one pig in twenty is thus infected, and only our habit of cooking pork very thoroughly saves us from being eaten up by the disease.

"Isn't all this enough to convince one that the sooner the rats are killed the better? Isn't it about time that this city made a start on the filthy, food-consuming rodent?

"Let us place a bounty on their miserable heads. Let South Pasadena start the movement."

MISSIONARY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Tropico Presbyterian Church will be held at the church Thursday, February 28th. A noon luncheon will be served, followed by the annual election of officers and a program at 2:30 o'clock.

WAR RELIEF COMMITTEE

Mrs. V. Price Brown, 147 S. Louise St. will be hostess at an all-day meeting of the Red Cross War Relief committee, Thursday, February 21. The hours are 10 to 3:30. All members are urged to be present.

HE MEANT WELL

"What do you know of the character of this man?" was asked of a witness at a police court the other day.

"What do I know of his character? I know it to be unbleachable, your honor," he replied with much emphasis.—Christian Register.

NEGLECTED SOURCE OF FOOD

Sweet potatoes can be made an important and cheap source of food, say specialists in Uncle Sam's department of agriculture. It is quite easy to increase the acreage enormously, and the adoption of better methods of handling and storing would improve the product to such an extent that the demand would be greatly stimulated.

Storing sweet potatoes has always been a more difficult problem than producing them. A large part of the Southern crop is kept in pits and banks, with the result that probably 30 per cent of the potatoes decay, and even those which are fit to put in the market do not keep well. Moreover, the pits and banks cannot be opened during wet or rainy weather without risk of injuring all the stock in them, so that it is not uncommon for growers to be unable, because of weather conditions, to get out their potatoes at the very time that the market demand for them is greatest.

These difficulties can be done away with to a great extent by the use of sweet potato storage houses, it is declared.

THE GAUCHERIE OF SOLDIERS

Soldiers when marching at night through open country invariably gravitate toward the left, not to the right. This is the experience of an old soldier, who thinks the tendency is due to two causes: First as the rifle is carried in the right hand it naturally follows that the weapon arm must be kept free, and in case of pressure, when in close formation, the instinctive rule is to put up the left elbow and say, "Ease off to the left." Second, the soldier always steps off with his left foot, and, although it may be hard to prove, there is always a slight deviation to the left, even when a battalion is marching in daylight toward a fixed point or any other point of support. —London Chronicle.

CARRIER PIGEONS ARE BEING KILLED BY HUNTERS

Complaints have been made to the pigeon section of the Signal Corps that carrier pigeons of the racing-homer type, being trained throughout the United States for communication service with the American Army, have been shot by persons on hunting expeditions.

Because of the important part carrier and homing piegons are playing in the war, and the need for their breeding and development in this country, the War Department has considerably expanded the pigeon section of the Signal Corps. Homing pigeons constitute one of the most effective means of communication in the Army.

Any pigeon in the air may be a carrier pigeon flying from a loft under Government supervision. Its destruction may be a serious loss to the American Army. Anyone coming into possession of pigeons labeled "U. S. A.-18," indicating they are being trained for Army purposes, is requested to report the fact at once to the office of the Chief Signal Officer, Land Division, Washington, D. C.

LESSONS IN WAR CITIZENSHIP

Teaching high school students patriotism is the object of a series of war citizenship lessons being published by the State Board of Education and sent free to all high schools which will give the course. The lessons are entitled "The War and America." They were written by Prof. R. L. Ashley of the Pasadena high school, and edited by Will C. Wood, state commissioner of secondary schools.

Already the demand for the lessons has been almost unanimous with the high schools of California, and any school failing to take advantage of this unique and valuable course in citizenship will not be filling its full duty to its students and its country. The lessons are heartily endorsed by the California Liberty Loan committee, and the State Board has been asked to have the lessons rewritten for the elementary schools.

The course consists of twelve lessons beginning with the world movements which lead up to the war, the growth of German idea of world domination, and the immediate causes of the war. The student is then instructed in the reasons why the war came to America, our war aims and the general problem before the nation. Subsequent lessons will take up war finances, internal problems, our war organizations, the army and navy, transportation, shipping—in fact all the national activities necessary to a successful prosecution of the war.

In his introduction to this course on "War Citizenship" Commissioner Will C. Wood says: "Our young people need to understand the great struggle in which we are engaged and the governmental machinery necessary to carry it on. America is not yet thoroughly awake to the supreme issues of the conflict. Many American people have no adequate idea of the European background of the war. The schools can aid the nation very greatly in this great struggle by giving instruction in war citizenship."

THE MECCA OF THE WORLD

The following tribute to the San Gabriel Valley, written by Will Gilstrap, editor of the San Gabriel Sun, is equally descriptive of the San Fernando Valley or indeed of all of Southern California.

Varied the crops the tilled acreage yields
As recompense for labor that's well done.
Winds from the sea but season summer's heat
And drive the nip from out the winter's chill.
While trickling streams steal out from their retreat
Midst wooded heights of mountain, canyon, hill,
To percolate and quench the thirsty earth
Stretch on stretch of fallow, fertile fields
With white threads through where paved highways run;
And add comfort to the landsman's thrift.
No land where brighter shines the regal sun,
Nor clime so even in its temperature;
No night so sparkling when the day is done,
And moonlight lengthens out the all day lure.
Here gold's on top, a nestling midst the green—
No delving 'neath the rock-ribbed mountain sides—
It beckons you amidst the shimmering sheen
Of glorious landscape which no drawback hides.
Whate'er your thought of season, flowers to snow,
Our wondrous clime to please your mood inclined,
Has planted where you'll not have far to go
To satisfy each longing of the mind.
Whate'er your dream of earthly paradise,
'Twere not fulfilled until, in wonderment,
Your eyes, at last, behold the spot where lies
San Gabriel nestling in supreme content.

The war would be over in less than thirty days if all the persons who "wish they were under 31" would enlist and go to the front.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION

Interest in the thirty-seventh annual state convention of the California Young Men's Christian Association, which is to be held in Oakland, March 8 to 10, is intensified this year because of the war work which the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A. has been so successfully conducting.

Harry N. Holmes, who for two years has had supervision of more than one hundred British Association army posts on the French battle front in Flanders, who was with General Botha in the South African campaign and who for the past six months has been under shell fire virtually every day, has been secured to make the principal address.

The convention will open with a luncheon Friday, March 8, at Hotel Oakland. The afternoon program will be largely devoted to the war side of association work. In the evening a banquet will be held for men and women at the Scottish Rite cathedral.

On Sunday afternoon Harry Holmes will speak at the civic Auditorium. This meeting will be open to all. About thirty war work secretaries will be present, three or four International secretaries, Prof. Norman Coleman of Camp Lewis, F. A. McCarl, executive secretary National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. in the Western Department, H. W. Stone of Portland, Chas. W. Wilcox of Seattle and others prominent in the movement. Perry Olson, secretary of the Oakland Y. M. C. A., is chairman of the Oakland committee in charge of arrangements. The delegates from all parts of the state will be entertained during their stay in Oakland.

HOME MADE TRACTORS

Ranchers of the San Gabriel Valley are trying to solve some of their difficult problems in connection with increased production and the high cost of maintaining teams by building their own tractors. Perhaps farmers of the San Fernando Valley may soon be doing the same thing. The San Gabriel Valley experiments are thus described by the Covina Argus:

"There are several tractors in the making in the valley at the present time, the material being old, used automobiles that are being fitted with heavy driving wheels.

"Elmer King is one of the ranchers who has worked over a Ford car until he is doing successful work in Covina citrus orchards, and George Kellar is making a similar one from his old Cutting car. M. M. Knudtson is another rancher who has one of these made-over tractors, which will be ready for work within a few days.

"The two drivewheels are driven from a pinion in the rear of the drivewheels, which is the reverse of the automobile truck. This is in order to get a short frame. The shorter the body the easier to turn, and this is the essential thing that has been lacking in most tractors that have been manufactured for farm use. The orange grove demands a machine that can make short turns and still get traction enough to operate."

LEMON DROPS IN TON LOTS

Since the American Y. M. C. A. has taken over the United States army canteen in Europe, surprises have been frequent, but it was never suspected before that American soldiers required the entire output of a lemon drop factory. One of the first orders shipped from this country to France by the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A. was for fifty tons of lemon drops, fifty tons of chocolates and fifty tons of gumdrops!

One hundred and fifty tons of candy for the sweet tooth of the American soldier! In order to supply the demand of these red-blooded men who eat candy it was necessary for the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A. to contract for the entire output of a lemon drop factory, fifteen tons a month.

Even 150 tons of candy does not last long with the American troops in France. The reason is that the government ration leaves the men craving sweets, and to satisfy that craving they attack the Y. M. C. A. canteens in force—with the result that mountains of candy and chocolate melt away as if by magic. The candy is sold at virtually cost, as the aim is not to realize a profit, but simply to cover expenses.

HER RECOMMENDATION

A woman prominent as a social worker was in the city to engage a new girl the other day. She visited an employment agency which makes a specialty of finding places for country housemaids and was much pleased with one from the country.

"Why did you leave your last place?" asked the woman.

"I didn't have no last place," answered the girl, "because I ain't had no last place to leave, and I'm still working at it, being for myself that I've been working, and I'm sure I'm a good servant, and I can recommend myself to you, ma'am."—Ex.

VERDUN DEFIES KAISER TODAY AS TWO YEARS AGO

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

VERDUN, Feb. 20.—Two years ago today, Germany began its great assault on Verdun, which by striking a death blow to France, was to shatter the entire Allied cause, and at the same time, by the military genius displayed in the stroke, establish for all time to come the prestige of the Crown Prince and the durability of the House of Hohenzollern.

Today, Verdun, while still maintaining invincibly the proud position which the Kaiser himself assigned to it as "The Greatest Fortress of Modern Times," has become something more to the Allies, something in which the moral and the spiritual elements enter more profoundly and more significantly than does its mere military importance.

Verdun, which saved France—and by saving France, the entire Allied cause—has become to the Allied nations a veritable shrine—a shrine to which they pay homage, collectively and individually and with the same deep, devout thanks and emotions that homage is rendered by the individual to the person or the Divine Providence who has saved his life.

It was France's heroic, nine month resistance at Verdun that not only shattered the flower of the entire German army, but that permitted the other Allied nations to perfect their armies and military organization to a point that would enable them to enter the arena with a fair chance against the military colossus that Germany had been perfecting for forty years previous.

This supreme, historical, epocal fact is now recognized and admitted by all the Allied nations and during the past year, each and every one of them has sought public occasion for giving expression to their thanks.

In precisely the same manner that the individual almost since the beginning of humanity has laid his votive offering of thanks at the feet of the Deity or at the shrine of the Saint that has intervened in his behalf, all of the Allied nations have now deposed on the shrine of Verdun votive offerings in the form of the highest decorations and medals for military valor which they have the power to confer.

France herself paid the first tribute to Verdun by conferring on it in conformity with her time honored custom and tradition, the cross of the Legion of Honor to which was also added the Croix de Guerre.

Immediately thereafter the various Allied nations followed suit with the most distinguished decorations they had to offer, and in the Citadel at Verdun, on a velvet cushion there are now pinned, in addition to the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre, the Russian cross of the Order of Saint George; the English Military Cross; The Italian gold medal for Military valor; the Belgian cross of the Order of Leopold; the Serbian gold medal for military bravery; the Montehengrian's historic Obilitch Gold Medal and finally the plaque, collar and grand cordon of the Portuguese order of the Tower and the Sword, the highest decorations and the highest rank of the order which the President of Portugal had in his power to confer. And finally, above the jeweled and decorated cushion there now hangs a glistening gold sword conferred on Verdun by the Mikado of Japan.

But these votive offerings deposed on the shrine of Verdun by grateful allied nations constitute only part of the homage that has been rendered. In the same humanity-old custom in which the grateful individual has made long personal pilgrimages to the shrine of his patron saint or his accepted city, the allied rulers during the past year have made pilgrimages to the shrine of Verdun in order to give even more striking testimony of their thanks. The circumstances under which some of these visits were made were exceedingly impressive and striking.

King Albert of Belgium, who, when the Hun invasion swept over all but the last few square miles of his kingdom, vowed he would never set foot outside this last remnant of Belgium until all had been redeemed, made an exception to this vow in order that he might pay personal tribute at the shrine of Verdun. Then on a hill summit just outside the city itself, he calmly and majestically pinned the various Belgian decorations for military valor on the breasts of the individual defendors of Verdun while at every moment throughout the ceremony German airplanes fought overhead in an effort to pass the barrier of French shells and the squadrons of French air fighters that they might drop bombs on the king himself in this kingly set.

King Victor Emanuel left Italian soil for the first time since ascending to the throne of Italy in order that he might pay personal homage at Verdun.

Prince Arthur of Connaught made the pilgrimage on behalf of King George of England and President Bernardino Machado of Portugal came also the shrine in person bringing with him the high insigna of the Order of the Tower and the Sword which he had conferred.

To the military halo that must always encircle the name of Verdun during the centuries to come there promises thus to be added also a halo of gratitude and thanksgiving from the Allied nations which will continue to shine with increased lustre and strength as future generations of these same allied nations render up in turn the thanks for the life of political freedom that Verdun will have conferred on all.

POTATO BUTTER NOW

The latest London idea to swat the high cost of living is to eat on your Victory bread Britain's new potato butter.

Here's the official recipe:

Peel the potatoes and boil until they fall to pieces and become floury. Rub through a fine sieve into a large basin which has been previously warmed. To every fourteen ounces of mashed potatoes add two ounces of butter or margarine and one teaspoonful of salt. Stir thoroughly with a wooden spoon until the whole is smooth. The butter may then be made into bricks and kept in a cool place.

FLOODS IN BRAZIL

The native inhabitants of Brazil have lately been suffering from the disastrous effects of the flooding of the Amazon, whose relentless waters have submerged the countryside for hundreds of miles around. At regular intervals this mighty river overflows its banks, and a famous traveler estimated that no fewer than 5,000,000 natives have lost their lives during the last five centuries through these terrible floods.

There is no greater, finer study in the world than watching Mother Nature in her everyday work. America's slogan should be: "Not an inch of idle yard." A garden returns many fold in decreased cost of living, in health and happiness.—Luther Burbank.
